Subject: The Importance of Parental Involvement in Education.

Dear Parents,

I am writing these few lines to remind you of the importance of parental involvement in education. Research has shown that when parents are involved in their children's education, the students tend to perform better in school and have higher self-esteem.

Parental involvement can take many forms, such as attending parent-teacher conferences, helping with homework, attending school events, and talking to your children about their school days. By being involved in your children's education, you are showing them that you care and that their education is important to you.

We urge you to take an active role in your children's education and to be involved in their school life. Your involvement will help to ensure that your children reach their full potential.

Let us join our hands together and groom our children for a better future, for St. Joseph's Sr. Sec. School is committed to making changes in the life of our students. It's fully devoted to molding the future of our students bright and happy.

It is said, "Well begun is half done". So let's give a new good beginning to this academic year and make the best of it.

Sincerely,
Sr. Dr. Sonia Varghese
Principal
